

POWER STRIKE IS CAUSE OF GENERAL INDUSTRY SHUTDOWN

Consumers' Power Company Workmen Go On An "Outlaw Strike"

100,000 MEN TO BE IDLE

Thousands of Homes and Factories Are Without Current and Light

By International News Service
FLINT, Michigan, June 9—Industrial paralysis stepped across the Saginaw Valley today after workers of the Consumers Power Company called an "outlaw strike" and shut off electrical current to thousands of homes and factories.

The strike call resulted from belief of the strikers that the power company was "stalling" in negotiations over demands for a wage boost and union recognition.

Upwards of 100,000 men were expected to be idle by nightfall, as factories and business houses closed.

Flint, with a population of 160,000, was the first city hit, as union pickets representing power company workers went to the consumers' plant and took over the switch room. Alleys leading to the entrances to the switch room were barricaded with trucks.

About forty pickets marched in front of the building, while a few strikers went inside and pulled the switches. All currents except the hospitals, street lights, dairies and similar necessary facilities were cut off. The power off also silenced the press and the radio.

GOV. HOFFMAN IS GUEST SPEAKER AT LANGHORNE

Alumni Ass'n, Langhorne-Middletown High School, Has 31st Banquet

GRADUATES GUESTS

(By Staff Correspondent)
LANGHORNE, June 9—His Excellency, Harold G. Hoffman, Governor of the State of New Jersey, was the guest speaker at the 31st annual banquet of the Langhorne-Middletown High School Alumni Association, in the casino of Bucks County Country Club, last evening.

Inspiration to forge ahead in these troublous times, advice as to how to meet the perplexities of life, a ready supply of wit, and ability to quote poetry of both the inspirational and humorous type, earned for Governor Hoffman a warm place in the hearts of the members of the class of 1937, those affiliated with the Alumni Association, and guests. One hundred and fifty gathered for this auspicious occasion.

The keynote of the Governor's address was "Courage, Hope, Faith."

Introduced by Alva B. Johnson, vice-president of the Alumni Association, Governor Hoffman, in thanking Mr. Johnson for the kindly presentation, said: "It isn't being done these days—saying anything good about the Governor of the State of New Jersey. But I have always found a warm welcome in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania." The audience was kept in high, good humor as the guest speaker continued to recount humorous incidents that have occurred since his incumbency as Governor, and as he mentioned that he did have a good suit of clothes but enjoyed being himself, he recalled the visitors to the Summer executive mansion in Sea Girt "who on numerous occasions hand me their hats and say 'Hello' to 'Erbert, the butler.'" Governor Hoffman told the graduates he had completed his high school work at South Amboy with the class of 1913, and fondly recalled his annual visits to the gathering place of his fellow-Alumni members. Aiding and abetting the members of the local class of 1937, he asked the faculty and school board members to "be liberal with these seniors. Remember the days when you were young."

That all people have their difficulties and problems was well brought out by the Governor, when he told that while he served as commissioner of public safety of the State of New Jersey, "My job was to make the highways safe for 70-mile-an-hour Republicans, and unsafe for 30-mile-an-hour Democrats." The Governor's humorous poetry highly pleased, and he in verse gave a high school student's opinion in no uncertain terms of Julius Caesar and the study of Latin.

The young folks were urged to have pride in their high school and Alumni Association. "Strive to build up your association," added the Governor. "It is a fine thing to have such an organization. Have faith in it, and show your pride for it." The great need for a revival of faith and confidence for America and in the things that make America was stressed. "Truly this is a land of opportunity, and there are many fields still open. Faith, courage, and willingness to work on the part of our forefathers helped them to carve this nation out of a wilderness. Their willingness to take the instruments which were before them aided them in the job that was well done. It was that courage and willingness that laid a foundation for the cities which blossomed as the frontiers were pushed further Westward. They didn't ask for million-dollar schools, and constant government aid. They didn't sit down and wait for help, and demand free soup kitchens and the like."

The opportunity in this land for all native-born and for those who come from foreign shores was mentioned. "We have been through a period of distress, but in spite of the distress there is no reason for importing to the United States the foreign ideas that have ruined other nations," stated Governor Hoffman, and the audience agreed in rounds of applause. "Agitators for ill are a great menace in this nation today. Honest unemployment is a great problem, but not a great menace. But those who are too smart to work, and who give out the idea that the government owes them a living are a menace. Today we still have the 'carpet-baggers' abroad in our land."

Those who marvel at the achievement of the Soviet Arctic expedition in establishing a base at the pole and pushing exploration of the frozen north are perhaps unaware of the scope of these operations and the systematic and scientific nature of the expedition. An organization was launched as far back as 1925 for the purpose of opening up the 10,000,000 square miles Russia has in the Arctic. More than 40,000 persons are employed in the project which is headed by Prof. O. J. Schmidt. Other important figures in the work include I. D. Papanin, M. V. Vodopyanov and I. T. Spirin. Eventually it is hoped to establish a commercial air course over the roof of the world to United States.

POLICE TO ARREST NOISY WEDDING PARTIES HERE

Dep't Swamped by Complaints Received After Sunday's Noisy Celebration

WILL BE FINED, TOO

Horn blowing days of bridal parties in Bristol are gone and today the Bristol police department took drastic action after being swamped with complaints.

"We have received many complaints about the noise created by bridal parties who celebrate by driving through the streets numerous times, blowing horns and making unnecessary noise. Effective at once we will begin the strict enforcement of the section of the Motor Vehicle Code which prohibits such practice," said Chief Jones.

The section of the Motor Vehicle Code referred to by Chief Jones provides "It shall be unlawful, except as otherwise provided in this act for any vehicle to be equipped with or for any person to use upon a vehicle any siren, bell, compression, or spark-plug whistle, or for any person at any time to use a horn or other warning device other than as a reasonable warning; or to make any unnecessary or unreasonably loud or harsh sound by means of horn or other warning device."

Conviction carries a fine of $10 and costs.

The complaints received by the police have come from many sections of the borough and have been very emphatic. One reads:

"Can anything be done to stop the hellish noise in this town by these wedding parties?"

Other complainants state "we have members of our families ill and such noises aggravate their condition."

Sunday was a red-letter day in Bristol for noisy wedding parties who toured the town almost all day sound-ing horns and otherwise creating unnecessary noise. No consideration was shown for hospital areas or churches as these groups drove past.

One of the complaints asks: "Why should a few thoughtless and irresponsible people be permitted to endanger the life and the health of others?"

Chief Jones states that arrests will be made and that a charge of violating the act quoted above and also a charge of reckless driving will be pressed because many it is stated drive through red lights and otherwise endanger traffic in general.

Similar action was recently taken to halt the practice in Quakertown and other communities.

GRADUATES TO ENTER VARIETY OF VOCATIONS

Some to Become Nurses, Teachers, Engineers and Journalists

MANY TO COLLEGES

If dreams and desires of the 90 graduates of Bristol high school, class of 1937, are fulfilled, there will be produced from this group within the next few years a number of morticians, nurses, teachers, engineers of various types, journalists, mechanics, physical education directors, and business men and women.

With hopes high, this large class plans to swing right into stride with the world, and a number have already decided on what institution of learning they will enter next Fall. Others have decided upon courses or professions, but have yet to select the college they will enter. A number wish to secure positions, and further their education later, or at night classes.

Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, will claim the attention of six students. Miss Marie Spezzano will study home economics there; Irvin Hoffman and Louis Lupkin will study chemical engineering at that institute; Angelo Quattrocchi and Irvin Brambley will follow mechanical engineering, and Carman Mignoni will take up the course in civil engineering.

Among those who have hopes of following courses in physical education with the ultimate goal of teaching such are: Frank Mignoni and Frederick Kalinski, who will enter Springfield College; Roman Pieo, who has not decided upon which college he will attend, and who has plans for following studies in the commercial field as well; Berenice Brunner, West Chester State Teachers College.

The twins of the class, Mary Jane and Sara Roberts, will become stenotypists, studying at Strayer's Business College, Philadelphia. Also studying at Strayer's will be Dorothy Downing, secretarial course; Levia Zanni, Mabel Beagle and Francis Grimes, business courses. Business courses of training will be followed by George Bailey, Samuel Smith, Jack Fraser, accountancy at Peirce School, Philadelphia; Peter Cattani, accounting at New York University; Fred Marino, college undecided; Alberta Lanzalere, secretarial course at some college; Mary Lemon, Muriel Sheldon, Betty Hamme, Evelyn Buck, Marie Seibold, Lillian Reynolds, school undecided; Grace Weller and Anita Wallace, Ruth Rothenberger, Ida Roberts, Margaretta Duffy, Rider College.

LINEMAN ELECTROCUTED ON POLE AT EDDINGTON

John Robinson, 32, Providence, R. I., Meets Sudden Death While at Work

JUST ARRIVED HERE

A lineman employed by the Utilities Construction Company was electrocuted yesterday afternoon mid-way up a pole along Street Road, Eddington.

The lineman, John Robinson, 32, Providence, R. I., was working with a floating gang doing work for the Philadelphia Electric Company. Robinson, along with George Engle, Elizabeth, N. J., was transferring wires from one pole to another. Robinson was about 25 feet off the ground with Engle working above him. Robinson was not up among the "high tension" wires but was down where the voltage was not near so high, about 110 to 220 going through the line.

The man on the ground saw Robinson's head jerk back. The groundman yelled and Engle clipped the primary line and cut off the current. The man's safety belt held him until his fellow-workers lowered him to the ground, which was done immediately, and work of resuscitation started. Dr. MacKenzie was called, as well as the Bristol police, and the Bucks County Rescue Squad. Chief Jones responded with the pulmotor and the Rescue Squad and the linemen worked for two hours under Dr. MacKenzie's supervision and direction in an effort to revive the man.

Hot water bottles, and quantities of hot water and hot towels were carried from the houses in the vicinity while every effort was made to save Robinson's life.

The accident occurred at 4:45 and after working on the victim until nearly seven o'clock it was decided to bring the man to the Harriman Hospital. The pulmotor was applied every instant of the time that the trip to Bristol required, and fellow-workers and the Rescue Squad worked on Robinson in the ambulance during the trip to the hospital. This work was continued after the man was admitted to the hospital, but he was pronounced dead shortly before seven o'clock.

Robinson's home was in Providence, but he had travelled about the country with the construction crew of the Utilities Construction Company which contracts line construction for the Philadelphia Electric Company. The crew came to Bristol Monday night from the vicinity of Doylestown and yesterday morning started work in the Eddington section. Robinson is survived by his wife who is residing at the Danboro Hotel, Danboro.

Robinson's left hand was burned, indicating he had touched a "hot" wire. He also had a burn on the inside of each leg, and an abrasion under his arm. It was the belief of Dr. MacKenzie that Robinson had a weak heart.

The first phase of the theme entitled "The Beginning of Secondary Education in Pennsylvania" was given by Peter Peters; second, "The Academy" by Betty Hamme; third, "Development of Education in Bristol," by Harry Bauroth.

The second portion of the program was devoted to a mock trial in which Major Discontent vs. Mr. Modern Education was tried in the Bristol High Court of Appeals.

LOVE, MOON AND MOTHER

Somebody has taken the trouble to analyze the lyric themes of popular music, as represented by titles of current songs and their repetition on radio programs. Three topics lead all the rest in Tin-Pan-Alley. Love conquers all, but mother and the moon are nearly as popular with song writers.

A single song about love was played over principal radio networks 24,374 times last year; another thundered through the ether ten times a day at the height of its popularity. Seven songs about the moon are listed among the favorites of last year's output. Mother did not do so well, but in the official catalogue of published sheet music there are 300 songs with the title of "Mother." And 203 which are named "I Love You."

A serious conclusion from these statistical studies is that the life of a popular song is much briefer than it used to be. That, it is said, makes bad business for composers and publishers, who would like to know what's to be done about it. The more popular the song, the briefer its little life.

It is easy to understand why. Love, the moon and mother are eternal themes for poets and music makers, but whatever they say or sing is soon worn out and must be said again. Perhaps it need not be said again, but it is. A poet once inquired, "What are the wild waves saying?" If he referred to the ether waves, they are probably saying something about love, the moon and mother.

BACK TO THE BICYCLE

Heartening news in a great industry. The people who make bicycles say that 1937 is going to be the best year in their business in a generation, since 1910. That was the year that people began to say that the automobile had come to stay and it began to crowd the humble bike from off the streets.

But now the leaders of the bicycle industry announced at a recent convention that there are no fewer than three million bicycle riders in the United States, compared with a low of about half a million when the bicycle was in its greatest eclipse. They are still a comparatively rare sight around Bristol, although undoubtedly there seems to have been a pick-up. But apparently it is as nothing compared with the sudden revival of the bike in some cities. The Cleveland Plain Dealer, for instance, is surprised at the "moderation of the clam." It continues: "To judge from the Sunday afternoon cyclists to be seen in the environs of Cleveland, one would believe that there might be a 10,000,000-a-wheel. Motorists who have to dodge the bikes on busy highways, would probably swear that line of the ten million deliberately get in their way."

It adds that accidents to bicyclists account for a much smaller proportion of traffic mishaps than one would expect. These young riders of 1937 are an agile lot. It might be worth while, however, to rebuild some of the old paths popular in the days of the century run.

However, this one is so old it is doubtful whether it is good for another ride—the one where the politician who feels himself slipping attacks the rich.

Motive that prompts most heavy purchases in good times: "I'll show 'em."

Bruce MacKenzie Wins P. T. A. Trophy

"Good judgment and heroism are the qualities you of the class of 1937 will need most. You must have single-mindedness of purpose and never waver."

Dr. Seay outlined a code for those graduates of 1937 which included the following points: First, have faith in yourself; second, depend upon yourself—be not influenced by the mob mind, but be logical—never be accused of selfishness; third, place the proper valuation upon yourself—often we do things and leave ourselves out of the picture—perseverance will count in the long run; fourth, be yourself—there is a place for every graduate in these grand United States if he will but be himself.

In his charge to the Bensalem class of 1937 the speaker said, "Take the reins of life in your own hands. Let no one deter you from the great opportunity of life that awaits you in the years to come. Be sincere and be yourself and success will follow."

The commencement project as participated in by Senior speakers dwelt on "Bensalem Activities."

Walter Fortnum, president of the class of 1937, gave the introduction and emphasized the benefits of extra-curricular activities.

Bruce MacKenzie, president of the student council, told of this organization in Bensalem, saying, "Democracy in government and in the schools is inseparable, and the student council here at Bensalem teaches us the principles of democracy."

Margaret Brown told of the growth of "The Bensalemite," the school news magazine. She also outlined the growth of dramatics in the school as well as debate. In connection with the dramatic side of the picture, two senior girls, Charlotte Tulloch and Helen Zelinsky, presented a scene from "Mary of Scotland."

MY TRIBUTE TO THE ANDALUSIA BOYS OF THE GRADUATING CLASS OF '37

My heartiest congratulations to you boys, and may good health and good fortune follow you through your life. Some of you are going on to a higher education.

More power to you! Some of you are going out in the world to earn your living.

Good luck to you! I would say to you, "Be careful where you go, and with whom you associate."

Try to locate with Christian people. Someone that would be fair and tolerant with young folks. That in itself will be an education to you.

You know, boys, I am going to miss seeing you go to and from school, more than you will ever know about. Some of you, I have watched from the time you walked down the church drive to the little Kindergarten. I watched you at play, and when you went for a walk with your teacher, I was fearful lest some of you would run ahead and be hurt.

Then, horrors upon horrors, the time came for you to go to the other school, where you had to cross and recross that wicked pike with no protection.

And then, the time came all too quickly for you to go to Cornwells. My, but that seemed quite a distance away!

Now that you have finished High School, I rejoice with you. But with it all I am a little sad.

I can only say again, "Good luck to you boys of '37, and Good luck to all of the graduating class."

—MRS. ERNEST T. JOHNSON, Andalusia, Pa.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

IN June milk is most plentiful and more butter and cheese are made than at any other season. That means low prices for these healthful foods. Eggs reached the year's low at wholesale last week.

Poultry prices continue to be lower than last year and fowl, broiling and frying chickens, ducks and turkeys are all good values. Fish prices also are fairly low. Meats continue to be high. Best values are to be found in forequarter cuts of lamb and veal.

More summer fruits are arriving each week with promise of plentiful supplies and lower prices soon to follow. Potatoes are much cheaper. Seasonable foods make up the following menus.

Low Cost Dinner
Baked Stuffed Breast of Lamb
Scalloped Potatoes Spinach
Bread and Butter
Berry Shortcake
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Fried Chicken Cream Gravy
Mashed Potatoes Green Peas

ST. ANN'S EASY VICTORS FOR THE HIBERNIANS

The Hibernians continued their pace-setting in the Bristol Twilight League by handing out a 10-2 lacing to the St. Ann's A. team last night on Leedom's grounds. It was the sixth victory of the first half for the Hibs.

"Eddie" Sullivan again turned in a fine performance on the hill for the Hibernians. For the second time he held the opposing batsmen to three bingles which were well scattered. He fanned ten batters. He whiffed Sagolla three times, making it a total of six consecutive strike-outs for the St. Ann's first-sacker.

"Will" Anderson was the St. Ann's twirler at the start but was chased and relieved by Whyno in the fourth. Whyno was hit for four runs during his tenure on the mound. Besides his mound work, Sullivan also pounded out three safeties.

ROHM & HAAS VICTORS IN SLUGGING MATCH

The Rohm and Haas and the Grundy lines engaged in a slugfest last night on Landreth's field with the former coming out on top by an 8-7 score. The defeat sent the woolen makers into the cellar of the Bristol Twilight League.

A total of twenty-three bingles was made during the tilt which included a home run from the bat of "Jimmy" Massilia with one on base in the fourth frame. The Grundy team rallied in its last turn with the stick and pushed over three runs and had the leadlocking marker on third base when the tilt ended.

"Tommy" Muffett took the beating for the Grundy team with the victory going to Gilbert. Gilbert received assistance from Fuoco in the fifth.

BRISTOL LEGION JRS. TO PLAY DOYLESTOWN HERE

The Bristol American Legion Juniors will play Doylestown Juniors on the Edgely diamond tonight at 6:15 sharp.

Leinheiser, an Edgely boy, will do the pitching. Dick, another Edgely boy, will play center field.

Although Bristol was defeated by Perkasio on Saturday, Manager Hems is very confident that his team will start on its winning ways against Doylestown.

All Wednesday evening games will be played in Edgely this year, as there is no diamond available in Bristol on that night.

RECIPIENT OF A BAT

The Draper-Maynard Company, of Andalusia, presented Jack Spencer with a major league bat of his own selection, in recognition of his outstanding performance in making four hits out of as many trips to the plate, in Bristol high school's final victory over New Hope on Monday.

PREDICTS VICTORY FOR LANDRETH IX TONIGHT

Feeling that his team is now back in its right stride, Manager Dave Landreth is predicting a victory for his Landreth Seeds team tomorrow night on his home diamond where the seedsmen play the Media A. A. team of the Main Line League.

In the last two games played, the Landrethmen beat the strong R. D. Wood team of Florence, 3-2, and then held the Port Richmond team to a 4-4 deadlock.

"Frankie" Griggs has been covering first for the seedsmen lately, replacing "Eddie" Sullivan. Griggs connected for two hits against the Port Richmond club and went hitless against Al Carey who twirled for R. D. Wood. Griggs formerly played with Bollington in the Delaware River League and this season was playing with Mercerville in the Trenton City League.

Undaunted, Sullivan is fighting hard to win back the initial post. During the practice sessions he has been slamming the pill to all corners of the lot and is going to make it difficult for Manager Landreth to decide whom to start at the post.

Turner Ashby, who turned back the foundry workers last Wednesday night, will most likely get Landreth's nod to start on the hill. Ashby is back to his old-time form and has been showing the best hill work for the Farmers. His battery mate will be Jack Broderick.

"Eddie" Liberatore, who looks better every time he gets into a uniform, will covet the second sack with another "Eddie," Deboskey, doing the shortstop chores. The most improved hitter on the club, "Gize" Dougherty, who has been hitting the horsehide recklessly in the last few games, will be at third.

Game is scheduled to begin at six o'clock. Sunday, the Landreth Seeds will meet the Wissinoming team in the "rubber" match of a three game series.

BEVERLY TO PLAY HERE

Tonight on Leedom's grounds the Bristol A. A. Baseball Club will cross bats with the strong Beverly, N. J., team. Ralph Stromp and Dougherty will be the A. A. battery. This game will start at 6:30 sharp.

Gov. Hoffman is Guest Speaker at Langhorne

trying to make men believe the government can do for them what they cannot do for themselves.

To the graduates New Jersey's chief executive had this to say: "This is an important milestone in your lives. Make use of your opportunities. What is opportunity?—It is grasping and using the tools that come to hand. Trails are still open in this nation. Education doesn't stop with the diploma. . . . Don't get narrow, and just go down in a rut. Fields are open in all the sciences, in medicine, electricity, engineering, and there are many others. These fields are open for men and women to go out and solve the problems that are still with us." Another good piece of advice was "Don't be sold one side, but look into both sides of a question, particularly some of the complex questions we have today."

The toastmaster of the evening, William J. Forbes, president of the association, presented to Governor Hoffman an engraved life membership card, a gift from the Alumni Association.

The invocation was made at the beginning of the evening program by Lester Mather; and the toastmaster, Mr. Forbes, was introduced by the Alumni treasurer, William Phillips. Mr. Forbes extended a warm welcome to the honored guests, members of the class of 1937, Alumni members and friends. During his remarks Mr. Forbes urged all eligible to join the association.

Greetings were extended by the following: Mrs. Harry Ridge, president of the Parent-Teacher Association; Howard Vansant, member of the board of directors; William A. Thomas, principal of Langhorne-Middletown high school; Miss Isabelle Davis, dean of the senior class; Malcolm Richardson, president of the senior class.

Principal Thomas told the graduates they must not be discouraged if they are unable to continue their studies, or not able to secure permanent positions at once. He told that there are new and challenging opportunities for service in some channel every day in the week. After splendid words of advice he quoted from the Bible this advice, "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven." Miss Davis, after reviewing briefly activities of the class of 1937, informed that at least one-third will go to institutions of higher learning.

Roll call of classes was a feature of the evening. Miss Elizabeth Reed, Alumni secretary, reading the list. Governor Hoffman's aide was also presented to the gathering.

A gift was presented to Principal Thomas by William J. Phillips, on behalf of the organization, in appreciation of his aid.

The toastmaster announced that the Catherine Wildman Memorial fund will be used for dental and optical work among the school children. The late Miss Wildman taught for many years in Langhorne high school.

Following the singing of "Alma Mater," for which Miss Marian Johnson served as accompanist, a business meeting occurred, with dancing following.

The menu included: Fresh fruit cup, olives, celery, radishes, cream of celery soup, half broiled Spring chicken, Boston browned potatoes, early June peas, French rolls, tomato and lettuce salad, vanilla ice cream with fresh strawberries, coffee.

The officers of the association are: President, William J. Forbes; vice-presidents, Alva B. Johnson, Edward Black, Walburn Miller; secretary, Elizabeth Reed; assistant secretary, Edna Paxson; treasurer, William J. Phillips; directors, Alice Andrassy, Eugene Boyd, William Breuninger, Lammon Brick, Helen Downing, Ruth Ehren, Robert Hewitt, Elizabeth Lake, Charles Markley, Harry May, Albert McNamara, Leroy Reed, Earl Richardson, Frank Thompson, Herbert Varian.

FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1937

'37 BETTER THAN '29

The first half of 1937 closed for the motor industry with an output exceeded for a similar period only once in the nation's history. That was in 1929. In no other year, even of the booming '20's, was the production of the initial six months bigger than in the period just ended.

The significance of this is evident. Since 1929, prophesy in business matters has been out of favor. But it hardly is prophesy to assert that, if motor sales can reach such a figure with the country still partly mired in depression conditions, the attainment of normal conditions would mean sales and production on a scale hitherto unprecedented.

In comparing this year's production with that of prior years, two factors must be borne in mind: First, that the present production season began last fall and not, as in the past, only in January; in the '20's the bulk of the whole year's demand was concentrated in this spring period. Second, that production this year has suffered serious interruptions due to labor disputes. Both factors tend to emphasize the importance of the near-record production that, nevertheless, was found possible.

The effect of the labor interruptions, whatever it may have been, has a bearing on the immediate outlook for the industry. The next few weeks, in which production normally should decline steeply, will disclose in a measure whether the sales lost by strikes were lost irretrievably or merely were postponed. To the extent that the latter was true, production may be expected to hold up into the summer months.

IT'S ALL OUR FAULT

The worldwide crisis is principally the fault of Americans. So says Prof. Walter B. (Life Begins at Forty) Pitkin. The prof is an American, himself, so he can't be accused of the sort of stone-throwing which makes neighborly relations among nations so lively and interesting right now.

Here is how Professor Pitkin figures it out: The present crisis in civilization was caused chiefly by "the world's wild dream"—a wild dream "of progress of universal comfort, security and freedom"—and, says the professor, "we Americans are mainly responsible for it."

We are responsible, it seems, because "people would have remained content had we Americans only been satisfied with our own good fortune. We had to ballyhoo it all over the world. . . . For half a century we have been telling the world that the American way of life is the best way and that everybody ought to follow it—but, alas, most of the seekers lived in poor places, they could not raise crops like ours, they could not use power so abundantly and they could not create wealth enough to lift themselves to the American level. America has taught the world to dream a wild, wild dream that cannot come true. America has caused world-unrest, which, unless we move cautiously, may destroy us along with malcontents. Our only salvation is to return to realism."

Very well, professor. And, if life begins at 40, where does realism begin?

An animal trainer is up on charges of starving a lion. It seems one may not hold out on a hungry lion unless one is the lunch.

The average man lives one-third of his life without sin. He spends that much of his life sleeping.

Britain Will Spend African Wealth for Re-Armament

preparing every man, woman and child for "national defense," and maintaining permanent civil mobilization. She saw the German military force grow, at first secretly then openly, from the mere 100,000 Reichswehr allowed by Versailles to her present panoply of arms which British authorities now reckon as follows:

A standing army of 700,000, at the moment numbering 57 divisions, completely modern, highly mechanized and including three armored divisions said to be capable of moving at 30 miles an hour. By the end of 1936 she will have filled in and expanded her forces to two complete armies of 36 divisions each with four armored divisions, and a total strength of 1,000,000. British authorities also estimate that Germany, despite the many years of Versailles, has a tolerably trained reserve of 600,000, so that she could today send to war a total of 1,300,000 men.

Her navy is small but absolutely modern and growing so fast that by the end of 1939 it will be able to guarantee the sea-route to Germany's vitally essential iron-ore sources in Sweden. The British admit that by 1940 the German navy will be completed to her treaty strength of one-third the British, and will be good enough to dominate the Baltic and keep out of that sea anybody, including even the British.

Finally the German air-force removed whatever indecision was left in British minds. The best and most conservative British estimate of that force today is 1600 first-line planes, mostly bombers, with 100 per cent reserves of pilots and 200 per cent reserves of machines. This means a total of 4800 warplanes and 3200 completely trained pilots.

These were the figures which, upon being presented to the British government by the Intelligence Service and by individual members of Parliament led by Winston Churchill, brought home the indubitable fact that Germany had already become the strongest power on the continent. The candid statement by Hitler to Sir John Simon two years ago that Germany had already got an air-force as strong as Britain's startled the British. Churchill's documented evidence that Germany had spent and was spending a total of $4,000,000,000 a year on arms, including military roads, convinced the British they would have to exert their full financial strength to catch up.

Just as British anxiety over Hitler had begun to grow acute, Italy, for generations a friend of Britain, launched her Abyssinian adventure. Britain suddenly found herself leading the League alone against Mussolini. She made an enemy of him who has not yet been appeased.

Japan, too, had never forgotten the affront when Britain, out of deference to America, let the Anglo-Japanese alliance drop.

Here were three potential enemies. How would Britain handle them? People all over the world began to whisper that the British Empire was "done," and in the great dictator countries argument already arose over how best to divide the spoils. Before that division takes place, however, Britain's new government will have a word to say.

GRUNDY NINE FALTERS AND LOSES THE GAME

BRISTOL TWILIGHT LEAGUE

—Schedule for Tonight—
ROHM & HAAS vs. SUPERIOR
(Leedom's field)
Umpire, Fields; scorer, Dolan
HIBERNIANS vs. GRUNDY'S
(Maple Beach)
Umpire, Kervick; scorer, Tomlinson

After enjoying a 5-1 lead from the second inning, the Grundy Mill team faltered in the closing frames to let the Superior Zinc nine come from behind and capture a 9-5 victory. It was the zinc smelters' first victory of the second half.

A quartet of markers in the seventh, off the hurling of Ralph Narcisi gave the Superiors the triumph. Previous to this frame, Tommy Muffett did the flogging. For the winners, Elijah Bragg pitched and did a good job of it with the exception of the second when his own error helped the wooden makers to five runs.

"Bud" Tullio, of the winners, had a fine evening at the plate. He stepped to the plate four times and on each occasion drove out a bingle. Ralph Stromp had three hits and so did Bragg to account for ten of the Superior's fifteen safe blows. Not one hit in the entire game was for an extra base.

Tonight's game between the Hibernians and Grundy's, originally scheduled for Landreth's field will be played on the Maple Beach diamond.

BACHARACH GIANTS PLAY LANDRETH TONIGHT

Tonight the Bacharach Giants will cross bats with the strong Landreth nine here at 6:15. The visitors need no introduction to Bristol fans as they have played here on numerous occasions during the past two years and have always played a good clean game of fast baseball.

The Landreth team is now going strong and will enter the game tonight fresh from their victory over Stroudsburg, last night.

It is expected that the banner crowd of the season will be at Landreth park tonight, when the umpire yells "play ball."

The Bacharach team comes there determined to win and will give all they have to defeat the home town nine.

MULHOLLAND SUGGESTS SERIES FOR CADET FUND

A series of baseball games between the Landreth nine and Johnny Mulholland's Bristol A. A. is in the offing. That is if Dave Landreth will accept the deft hurled by Mulholland for the two teams to play a series for the benefit of the uniform fund of the American Legion Cadets.

Mulholland claims that he has been importuned by a number of fans to get Landreth to play the series, and turn over all of the receipts for the benefit of the cadet fund.

"Now the cadets are a worthy bunch," says Mulholland, "and I believe that a series of games between the Bristol A. A. and Landreth would net a neat sum. The money is needed by the Cadets and fans are anxious to see the two teams play," says Mulholland.

Mulholland states that he will wait for an answer from "Dave" Landreth and hopes that the manager of the "Farmers" will agree to the contest.

ODD FELLOWS VICTORIOUS OVER ST. ANN'S, 6 TO 4

St. Ann's A. A. had the deadlocking runs on base in the final inning of their tilt with the Odd Fellows last evening at Edgely but Jake Paul whizzed a third strike past "Bill" Dougherty to stop a threatening rally and the Odd Fellows were victorious by the count of 6-4.

Two were out when the Wood Streeters started something in the seventh. Bauroth doubled to right. Tosti then hit safely to center and Bauroth pulled up at third. Dougherty tried his darndest to connect but Paul managed to get the third strike by him for the out which ended the fracas.

The tilt was hard-fought from start to finish and delayed several times because of many arguments. It was probably settled in the fifth when "Jimmy" Cooper slammed a triple to center with Paul and Johnny Dick on base. In the following inning to make victory certain, Paul tripped and scored on a hit by George Ritter.

Whyne of the losers had nine strikeouts to his credit and allowed eight hits, including two triples and a double. Paul also allowed eight hits, fanned seven. Bauroth had a double and single and Tosti, three singles and a pass.

LEGION JUNIORS TO PLAY TRENTON JUNIORS HERE

American Legion Junior team will play the Trenton American Legion Junior team at Landreth's Ball Park tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Trenton team is one of the fastest Legion teams in New Jersey. It is now in the quarter-finals of the State of New Jersey.

Manager Pema will use LaPolla as his pitcher. Tomlinson or Vanzant will do the catching. As Barbeta, regular first baseman, will be unable to play, Manager Pema will try and get "Billy" Gallagher, his last year's star, to play at first base.

The rest of the team will be the same as has played this year for Bristol in the Bucks County Legion League. If the fans turn out, Manager Pema will get more Legion junior teams to play his team in Bristol.

MILL A. C. LEADS LEAGUE

Having led the recently organized Junior Baseball League, the Mill A. C. continued on its fine winning streak with flying colors when "Bill" Sufas hurled his mates to a 15-1 victory over the cellar-dwelling Catholic Club. Although Sufas usually plays center-field, he had the Catholic boys under his wing from the first ball tossed. The losers, in the seven innings, had two twirlers on the mound fighting for C. B. C. while "Bill" lasted the scheduled grind. Here is the standing of the teams in the league thus far:
